

If you have edit access to create / edit stories on the cfwnc website:
You should be able to see Stories, Listed under Channels – then just click “+ New Entry” (don’t use the drop down just use the bigger “New entry” button). And the story entry will show up. At this point you put in the Title of the story and select the story category (Women for Women for example) the content for the story is on its own tab (see the second image). You use the same “block” technique as you do on regular website entries. I’m happy to go over this with you and I’m also documenting in the design standards page.
